The 2006 MOC-Wards Rogaine

Saturday 27 May 2006 (6 and 3 hour options – Teams or Solo)

Event Information

Location
Within 40 minutes travel from Blenheim to the event centre. Orienteering signs will be placed at key locations for directions. Final travel details will be sent to the Team Contact closer to the event.

Terrain
Farmland, undulating to moderately steep hill country. Elevation ranging between 120 and 800 mtrs. Relatively clean with tracks, some scrub/bush and pine forests. Lots of defined ridges and spurs, numerous saddles and knolls, a myriad of contours.

Hazards include electric fences (which will be easy to cross), bluffs and some under-runners. Gaiters recommended.

Maps
Pre-marked A3 size, 1:25,000 scale with 20m contours. Out of bounds areas will be overprinted. One map per competitor. Maps are not waterproof – bring a water proof bag, map case or seal adhesive.

Clothing & Equipment for both Courses
We recommend that every competitor carries at least the following minimum extra clothing and equipment:
- Waterproof parka (the higher country can get very wet, cold and exposed)
- Gloves & Hat (polypropylene or wool)
- Upper and lower body clothing (polypropylene or wool)
- Basic First aid (including sunscreen)
- Whistle
- Adequate food and water for the duration of the event

Please respect the landowner's property and privacy. Their support and cooperation for permitting access to their properties for hosting this rogaine is very generous. We do not in any way wish to jeopardise the fantastic relationship that we have established with the landowners over the past few years.
To date we have received encouraging feedback from all concerned. This feedback is very beneficial when assessing potential new areas for rogaines. We have a positive reputation with the landowners and the community which we wish to continue.

Access to properties is only for the duration of the event. Possession of the map does not entitle you access at any other time.

What is a Rogaine?

A Rogaine is a cross-country navigational and strategy race on foot, designed for people of all abilities. Each participant is given a map with about 40 - 50 circles marked on it showing where "checkpoints" are located. You may visit as many or as few checkpoints as you wish, in any order and by any route, within your course time limit. Visits to checkpoints are recorded on a score punch card.

Some experience with a map and compass is helpful. Much of the pleasure and challenge of a Rogaine is the strategy of planning an optimum route to suit your own or your team's ability.

Scoring points depends on the number of checkpoints visited. Each checkpoint is worth a number of points depending on distance and difficulty. There are stiff penalties for returning after the time deadline with 10-point deductions for every minute late.

Detailed rules exist, but basically:

Members of a team must travel together, within 50 metres of one another at all times. A team shall demonstrate compliance with this requirement to any official or other team on request. Obviously this rule does not apply to solo entrants.

All members of teams must visit the checkpoints and shall simultaneously approach to within 20 metres, and within sight, of each checkpoint for which points are claimed.

You must respect the landowner's property. Cross fences at posts or climb through the wire. Close any gates that are shut.

You must be responsible for your own wellbeing by having suitable food, water, clothing and equipment with you. Competitors shall not discard any litter of any form.

Plan your course well. Rogaining is as much about careful route choice and navigation as it is about physical endurance

Note: Neither the organizers nor the landowners accept liability for any accident or injury to participants during the event. The 'Team Contact' on the entry form must ensure all team members are aware that they participate at their own risk.
