Please respect the landowner's property and privacy. Their support and cooperation for permitting access to their properties is very generous. We do not in any way wish to jeopardise the fantastic relationship that we have established with the landowners over the past few years.

We have a positive reputation with the landowners and the community which we wish to continue.

Access to properties is only for the duration of the event. Possession of the map does not entitle you access at any other time.

What is a Rogaine?

A Rogaine is a cross-country navigational and strategy race on foot, designed for people of all abilities. Each participant is given a map with about 40 - 50 circles marked on it showing where "checkpoints" are located. You may visit as many or as few checkpoints as you wish, in any order and by any route, within your course time limit. Visits to checkpoints are recorded on a score punch card.

Some experience with a map and compass is helpful. Much of the pleasure and challenge of a Rogaine is the strategy of planning an optimum route to suit your own or your team's ability.

Scoring points depends on the number of checkpoints visited. Each checkpoint is worth a number of points depending on distance and difficulty. There are stiff penalties for returning after the time deadline with 10-point deductions for every minute late.

Detailed rules exist, but basically:

You must travel together, within 50 metres of one another at all times. A team shall demonstrate compliance with this requirement to any official or other team on request.

All team members must visit the checkpoints and shall simultaneously approach to within 20 metres, and within sight, of each checkpoint for which points are claimed.

You must respect the landowner's property. Cross fences at posts or climb through the wire. Close any gates that are shut.

You must be responsible for your own wellbeing by having suitable food, water, clothing and equipment with you. Competitors shall not discard any litter of any form.

Plan your course well. Rogaining is as much about careful route choice and navigation as it is about physical endurance

Note: Neither the organizers nor the landowners accept liability for any accident or injury to participants during the event. The 'Team Contact' on the entry form must ensure all team members are aware that they participate at their own risk.
