WHAT IS ROGAINING?

A Rogaine is a cross-country, endurance and navigation event on foot, using a map and compass. Think of it as competitive tramping. This event will take you over farmed hill country and farmed tussock grassland.

Each team (of 2 to 5 people) is given a standard topographical map with 72 checkpoints marked on it. Teams collect points by visiting as many checkpoints as possible over the 24 hours, twelve of which are in darkness, although a full moon will help. The team with most points wins.

As a team you choose your own route and distance within the mapped area. You decide which checkpoints to visit and in which order. You can be as competitive or as social as you choose. Beginners are just as welcome at "Championship" events as proven athletes.

A team can go out 'on course' for the full time, or just a few hours, or anything in between. Teams can take a break at the start-finish area where hot food and drink is available from late afternoon. You may plan to sleep the night in your tent and go out again the next morning. A meal is provided after the event, too, to allow for the enthusiasts who stay out for 24 hours. Catering will be provided by the Roxburgh Lions Club.

Detailed rules exist, but basically you must travel together for safety, all team members must visit the checkpoints, you must respect the landowner's property, and you must be responsible for your own wellbeing by having suitable food, water, and equipment with you.

Plan your course well. Rogaining is as much about careful route choice and navigation as it is about physical endurance. For fit, first-time people, plan on about 2 to 2.5 kms per hour average over the whole time you are on the course. If you find you travel faster or slower, adjust your course as you go.

WEATHER:

This is an area exposed to the south. While normally fine in March with temperatures into the twenties during daytime, there are cold nights. There is also the possibility of very cold wind and rain at any time, and snow can also fall in March. Much of the area has little natural protection and you must ensure that you carry sufficient clothing.

GEAR:

You must bring a plate and cup, plus knife, fork, and spoon, for eating at the start-finish area. There will be NO rubbish facilities so you MUST bring your own rubbish bag. A tent and sleeping bag are essential if you think you might stop overnight. Chairs and a table are also useful for planning your route. There will be a limited area available within covered sheepyards, and you can use your chairs and table there if you are early enough; otherwise you should use your tent.

You must also bring adequate clothing for the event; polypropylene or woollen top and trousers, warm hat and mitts, heavy waterproof parka, an extra jersey, plenty of spare clothing, and a daypack. There will be a full moon but you must have suitable torches for the 12 hours of darkness. A basic first-aid kit, a whistle, water bottles, and suitable shoes or boots with good grip are also needed. A large (A3) plastic bag, or preferably some clear plastic stick-on covering, will give your map waterproofing and may also be useful at electric fences. You can leave surplus gear in your tent.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP:

The only difference between a championship event and an ordinary event is that the winners are declared champions, and are presented with trophies which return for the next championship event. Official rules will apply for teams wishing to remain eligible for Championship status. The championship is open to all competitors: Kiwis, watch out for Aussies.
